Open lecture: “Litigation Funding” _ 24.04.2025

The University Politecnico di Milano is pleased to invite you to an open lecture on the “Litigation Funding” on April 24th, 2025, from 10 to 12 am.

Program

Patent litigation is traditionally more expensive than any other IPR litigation. UPC litigation confirms this reality, showing a serious increase in values for each jurisdiction involved. The costs (consisting of legal fees and technical advice) can be considered a strategic investment for the Claimant, which has time to properly plan its initiatives. As far as the Defendant is concerned, cost management is very crucial in light of the very tight timeframe imposed by court deadlines.

Therefore, while economic issues related to UPC litigation play a significant role for the SME as Claimant, for the Defendant some cases can frustrate the proper organisation of the defence team.

Litigation Funding can therefore offer an opportunity to support litigation needs by providing the right ‘fuel’ to tackle the sophisticated but challenging UPC system.

This is why we decided to create an opportunity to learn from specialists how to properly evaluate the options currently available in the European market.
